Our Lady Mother of the Church

English edition

Updated on 10 September 2026

This church was built thanks to the community spirit of the residents of Las Indias and Los Quemados, mainly through contributions in cash and personal work, carried out on Sundays and public holidays.

The initiative began in December 1975 and the church stands on a plot in Las Indias, with a surface area of 144 square metres, in a building 45 metres long by 30 metres wide. It has a square and follows a modern, functional style, according to a project by the architects Hernández Cabrera and Cabrera Núñez, the former a native of Fuencaliente. The initial budget amounted to 1,210,000 pesetas.
